The 1974 Spud

Volume LX

Published by the students of Greeley Central High School,
Greeley, Colorado.

I walk alone into this grand place
And I find myself running, keeping the pace

I look closely at each person's features
Each diverse, these human creatures

People laughing, smiling, at times crying
People running, dancing, always trying

Holding hands, swinging, playing
Why can't this moment be forever staying?

And those faces of disappointment, of somber, of fear
In the end, it is always a happy tear.

I gaze blankly at what I may see Another face gazing back at me.

And as the gliding of an autumn leaf
Many a face beaming a sigh of relief

Those people running, shouting, singing out loud
Everyone a part of this vast crowd

There in the center, a friendly grin
The symbol of kindness which lies within

And the mark of our people, true determination

Proud of that, our own creation

Those faces we love, those faces we know,
Those faces that have fun places to go.

Mrs. Jackie Arthur

Dedication

Mrs. Arthur presides over a timed dictation test—a situation very familiar to her students, both present and past.

The students and faculty of Greeley Central will miss a friend and dynamic instructor when Mrs. Linda Lee "Jackie" Arthur retires this year. She leaves us after devoting 22 years of her life to District 6 students. In September, 1952, she started teaching home economics at Meeker Junior High; and she became a member of the business education department at Central in September, 1959.

Students enjoyed learning from her the many skills and attitudes needed to succeed in their chosen vocation and were also able to appreciate and gain from her world-wide travels. In addition, they also benefited from and recognized her warmth, patience, and experiences which so readily colored the classroom atmosphere.

Although Central is losing an effervescent and gracious lady, the world is gaining a versatile woman of many accomplishments who will continue her learning and increase her love of life through travel, hobbies, and humanitarian devotion to others.

It is with a sincere expression of appreciation that this yearbook is fondly dedicated to Mrs. Jackie Arthur.

The GCHS Student Council led by officers Ryan Trainer, president; Kathy Bartels, Secretary; and E. J. Nusbaum, vice president; sponsored a variety of extra-curricular events throughout the year.

In addition, Stuco sponsored a Halloween party for underprivileged children, a poinsettia tree, and caroled in the nursing homes during the Christmas season.

Stuco also participated in Northern Conference Student Council student exchange days throughout the year. They also entertained a group of students who were visiting Colorado from Pine Ridge, South Dakota.

ACADEMICS

They call it dedication . . .

The Greeley Central Administration helped to make this 1973-74 school year successful for both students and faculty.

Mr. Rex Hester, principal, saw the year as a busy one in preparation for the major remodeling of the building next year. His many duties for the year included helping organize curriculum, evaluating teachers and instilling an understanding of the school philosophy in both faculty and students. Although Mr. Hester's primary duties keep him busy, he always finds time to help any student with a problem.

With the addition of Mr. Ron Roggy as Assistant Principal for Administration, attendance regulations were tightened. Academic probation was added to curb frequent absences, and hall passes were required for all students in the halls during class hours.

Assistant Principal for Instruction, Mr. Randy Newman, found his duties consisted mainly of maintaining an organized curriculum and handling scheduling problems. In addition, Mr. Newman and other members of the Central administration sponsored extra-curricular activities, adding another feature to the successful school program.

This year Greeley Central emphasized a quarter class curriculum. Quarter classes were available to the students in the English and Social Studies departments. These classes were designed for students wishing to excel in specific areas of study. The Social Studies Department offered classes in Chicano Studies, Contemporary Issues, American history, Sociology, Anthropology, and Psychology. The English Department offered a variety of classes in reading, writing, and viewing and listening.

The Science Department also kept pace with the changing times. Classes were offered in most fields of pure science including biology, chemistry, and physics. Man Made World, another science class, was designed to interest students in technology and its effects on the future.

The math department at Central also offered a variety of classes. Most of these were year-long courses, but a few semester classes such as trigonometry and math analysis were included in the curriculum.

Many classes focused on Career Opportunities. Juniors and sophomores were required to take four credits of classes relating to careers in which they were interested. Classes were also offered in the fine arts, shop, industrial arts, data processing and secretarial skills.

Classes offered off the GCHS campus included Ag studies at Greeley West, Foods Incorporated at the United Presbyterian Church and a variety of courses at Aims Community College.

The GCHS library, which was too small to accommodate a growing number of students, was moved to what has been the Ag building. Seniors were dismissed from their classes three days in February to handle the moving of approximately 13,000 books.

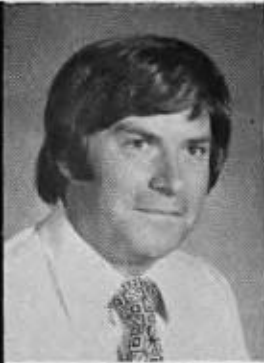

The main room of the library is carpeted, and provides a relaxed atmosphere for student study. Bean bag chairs help add to the students' enjoyment of their time in the new facility. Smaller rooms were designed off the main room to store magazines and periodicals. In addition to these rooms, a room for viewing films and listening to records was included for students with free periods.

An additional room was structured for students wishing to study quietly. This room is located away from the main stack area and is large enough to accommodate an entire class when a teacher wishes to bring a class to the library to do reference work.

Homecoming 1973

"Willy lights the way"

Gaily painted store windows marked the beginning of a festive Homecoming Week.

Five days of costuming preceded an enthusiastic Peppy Peoples' Picnic and candlelight pep assembly. The scene was set for the traditional homecoming parade and downtown pep rally, but a steady downpour forced the cancellation of the days' events and the floats and novelty acts had to be presented during Pre-game activities.

Susan Naffziger was crowned Queen of the 1973 Homecoming by Sandy Stevens to the delight of the Cen-

Thespians present "A Physician in Spite of Himself"

Central's Drama department opened its 1973-74 season with Moliere's French Farce, "A Physician in Spite of Himself."

The cast and crew began what is hoped to become an annual tradition in taking the show "on the road." The play was first presented at the State Thespian Convention in Grand Junction. Later, performances were given at Ault, Highland, Valley and Roosevelt High Schools.

The Success of the show and accompanying workshop on the production of farce guarantees the Drama department will someday travel again.

An Evening On Broadway . . . 27

... was the theme of the annual fall concert. "Sound of Music" and "Jesus Christ, Superstar" were among the selections presented by the combined choirs. A pre-recorded orchestral accompaniment was provided by 'Hall of Music', Denver, Colorado.

A group of American folk songs with narration by former Central teacher Mrs. Grace Dawson and a vignette by Mrs. Jackie Arthur highlighted the evening performance.

The evening ended with a sing-along of old favorites such as "Down by the Old Mill Stream", "In the Good Ol' Summertime", and "God Bless America."

1. Linda Baldwin sings "I Don't Know How to Love Him" from "Jesus Christ Superstar."
2. Tony Stinson and Dave Troester combine talents in their presentation of "Edelweiss" from the "Sound of Music."
3. A special part of the evening was a vignette with Mrs. Jackie Arthur and two choir students portraying a grandmother and grandchildren listening to an old-time radio program. The program featured John Wayne in "The America Selection."

Bobby socks, Penny loafers, greasy kid stuff and D.A.'s were revived at the annual Key Klub Klomp.

Instead of the usual "live" band music, Neil Best, the popular KUNC radio disc jockey did his nightly program from Central's cafeteria as the guest master of ceremonies for the Klomp. His zany staff provided entertainment for the crowd and everyone danced and reminisced to the sounds of 'yester-year'.

"Tight Squeeze", the annual Christmas production, written, produced and directed by members of Thespian Troupe #657 was presented to Greeley's kindergarten and first grade students just prior to Christmas vacation.

Using characters from the popular Sesame Street series including Big Bird, Ernie, Bert, Kookie Monster and the Grouch; and some original characters such as Brute Force, coach, cheerleaders, a mad professor and Super-Vac, the actors kept their young audience delightfully entertained.

1. The cast of the Christmas play assembles on stage for a final curtain call.
2. Santa Claus (George Copeland) discusses what a bad elf "Bubbles" (Steve Calvillo) has been.
3. Kama Linscome, Karen Moore and Lori Smith add the finishing touches to the makeup of Raggedy Ann (Julie Vossberg).
4. Cindy Bassett demonstrates the incredible power of the "Super-Vac", a creation of the mad professor.
5. The professor's assistant (Cindy Bassett) looks over Santa's unfortunate situation.
6. Big Bird and two of Santa's elves show concern over the predicament of their jolly leader.

The Old West returns to Central's stage with annual musical production.

What could be hotter or more successful than this year's musical production, "110 in the Shade", a musical adaptation of the play "Rainmaker".

Lizzie Curry, known to us as Carolyn Berrett, starred as a lonely western girl in search of a husband. Tony Stinson, co-starred as a notorious con-man (Bill Starbuck) who convinces the entire town that he can make it rain during a drought. Chuck Rosales portrayed a divorced Sheriff who competes with Starbuck for Lizzie's love. Lizzie finds herself with two beaux—not the plain girl she thought and was told she was. Lizzie's father (Ryan Trainer) and brothers, Noah (George Copeland) and Jimmy (Jeff Meyers), do more than their share to solve not only the problem of no rain, but that of no husband for Lizzie.

The chorus of 23 members provided an entertaining background for the leads. Musical accompaniment was provided by Debbie Bassett on piano, Kathy Kuhn on electric piano, Mr. Ken Wacker on bass, and Kenton Kuhn on percussion.

The entire production was under the direction of Mr. Harold Hamler and Mr. James De Mersseman.

Gregg Cogswell reigns over annual GAA Sox Stomp

A fast moving evening kept Wildcat dancers busy at the annual GAA Sox Stomp.

The evenings activities came to a climax when Gregg Cogswell was crowned "King Argyle" by Beth Varvel, president of Girls Athletic Association. Hugh Boyle was announced as junior prince and Mike Rollins as sophomore prince.

The theme "Good Vibrations" was echoed in the music provided by Roy Chapin's "Fusion".

"The Bad Seed" - GCHS Spring Play

Maxwell Anderson's, "The Bad Seed", was the annual spring production presented by Thespian Troupe #657, which proved to be one of the finer dramas presented at Central.

A small, but talented cast did a superb job staging a late 1940's story of a small girl's mental anguish and that of her family.

Top Right: Mr. Breedlove (Ken Ransom) denies the theories of Ms. Reggie Tasker (Ruth Leh) that tendencies toward murder and crime can be inherited.

Bottom Left: Christine Penmark (Jayne Bauer) hugs her husband (Ted Case) for, unknown to both of them, what will be the last time.

Bottom Right: Mrs. Daigle (Linda Takamine), drunk and sorrowful, asks Rhoda if she knows anything of Claude's death.

Aaron Copeland's Opera, "The Tender Land", was presented by the GCHS Vocal Department at a most opportune time, Spring Graduation.

The opera deals with a young girl's indecision about her approaching graduation and the tragedy that befalls her family and friends.

Leading an exceptional cast were: Linda Hale, 'Laurie', Marsha Holmes as 'Ma', Mark Larson as 'Grandpa', Harry Mitchell as 'Martin', Eric Carlson as 'Top', Carla Weil as 'Beth', and Kathy Bartels and Randy Kinnison as 'Mr. & Mrs. Splinters'.

The opera was staged and directed by Mr. Harold Hamler.

This year's junior class saluted the class of '74 with the theme, "Time in a Bottle".

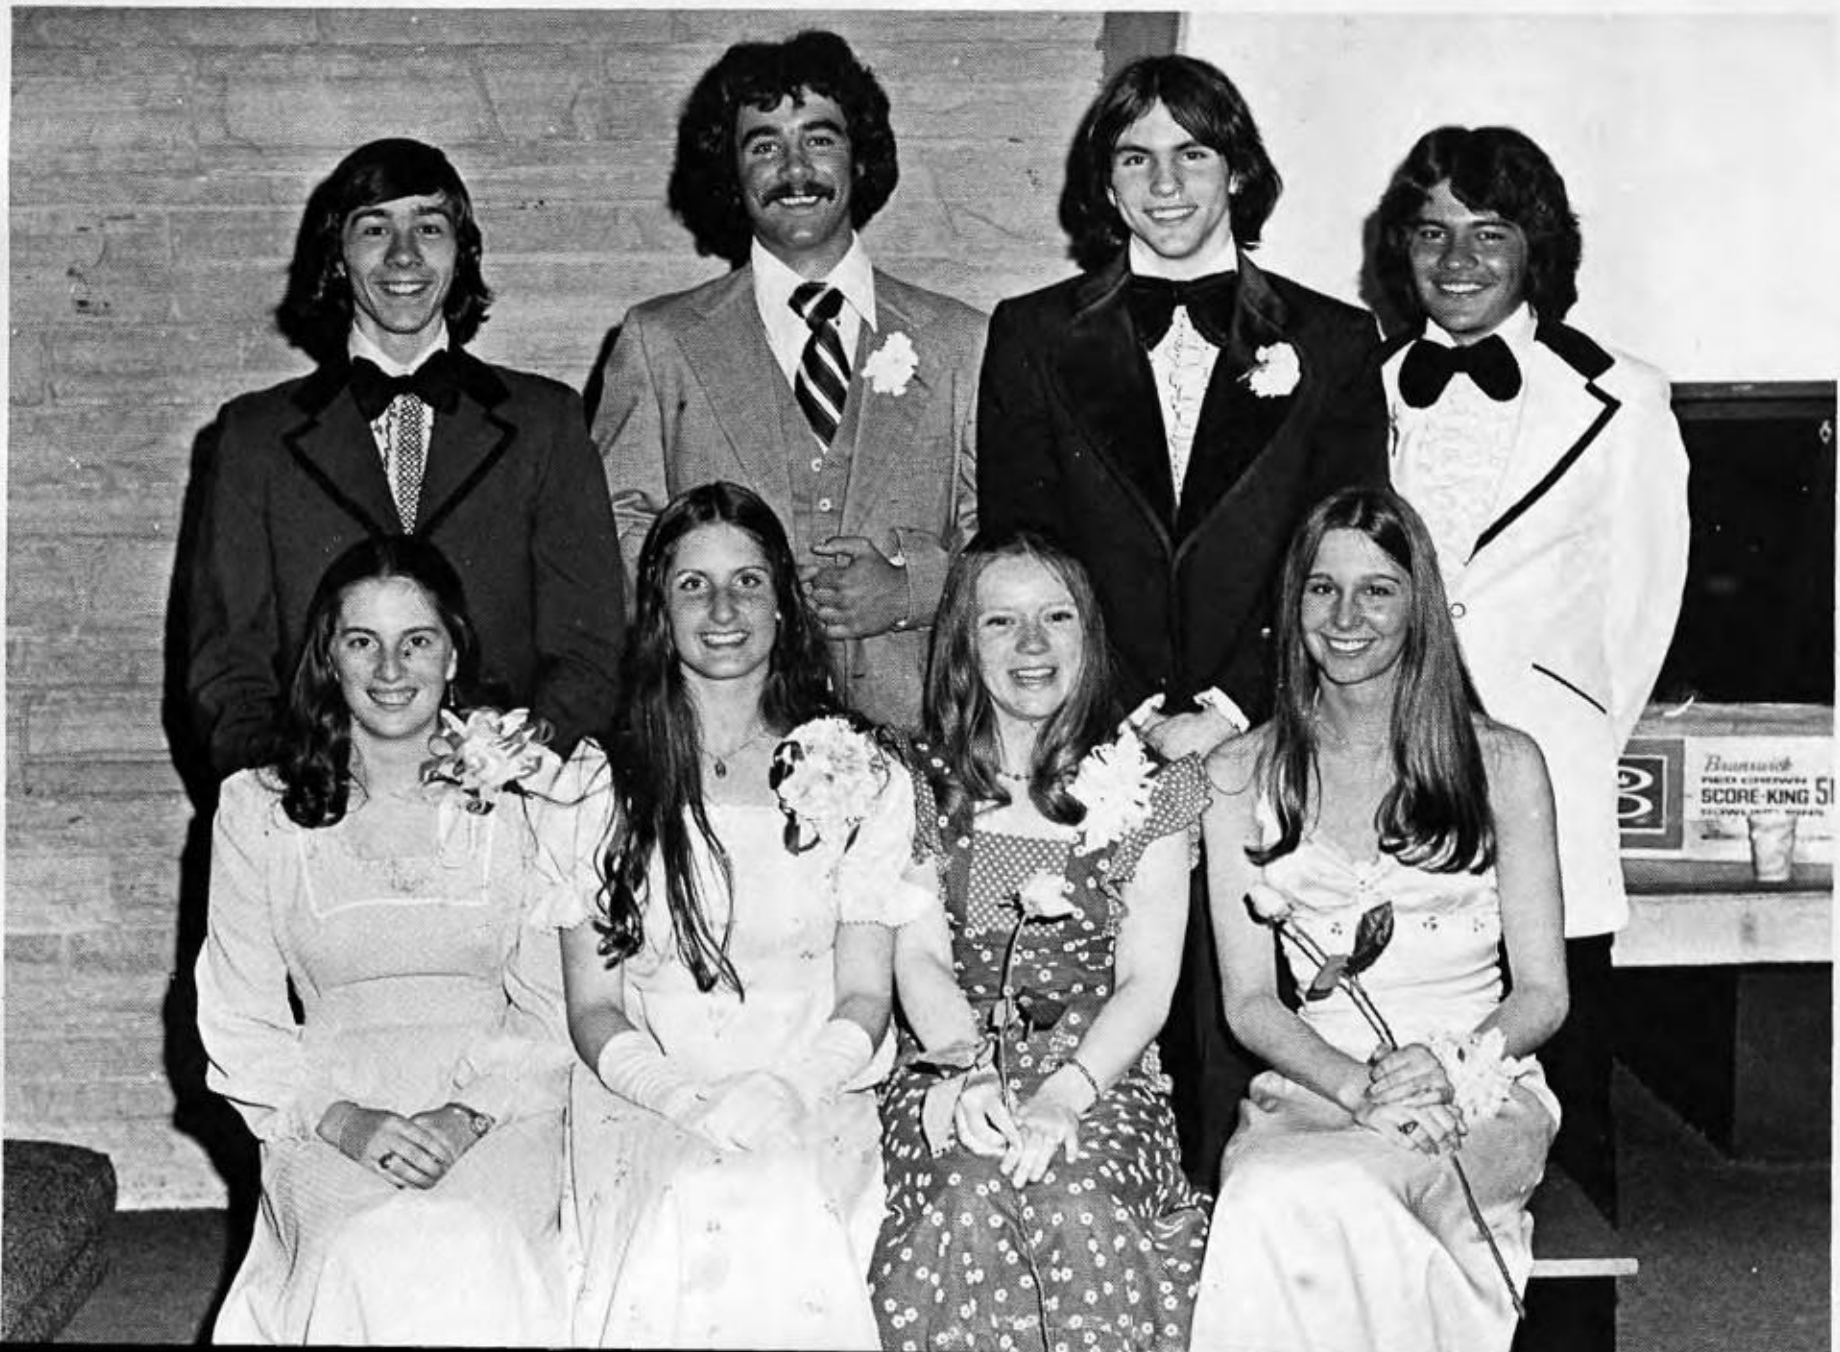

Students garbed in formals and tuxedos filled the air with elegance and charm at the 1974 Junior-Senior Prom.

The Prom was held in the University of Northern Colorado's ballroom. Juniors E. J. Nusbaum and Barb Derr led the Queen's Dance after being crowned Queen and King.

"Dikki Zoo" provided the evenings music and entertainment.

Central choirs combine for spring concert

A final spring concert was given to complete the busy year for the GCHS choirs. The combination of Concert Choir, Modern Choir, and Pops Choir with choirs from Heath and John Evans presented Flanders and Horovitz's, "Captain Noah and His Floating Zoo."

The outstanding choral presentations throughout the year gave evidence to the fact that many long hours of preparation and dedication on the part of all choir members and the director, Mr. Harold Hamler, went into each production.

A highlight of the year for the GCHS Modern Choir was their invitation and concert at the Colorado Music Educators Association Conference at the Broadmoor in Colorado Springs.

Modern Choir was selected as one of eight Colorado High School choirs by taped audition from over sixty applicants.

Top music students recognized at banquet

The annual Sunday afternoon band concert and an orchestra concert at the First United Methodist Church brought instrumental activities to a close.

Band director Mr. Bob Wiley, orchestra director Mr. Alan McKin and Mr. Harold Hamler choir director combined efforts of their groups to plan the annual spring awards banquet which was held in the cafeteria.

Outstanding students in each of the three areas were given awards for their accomplishments.

Class of '74 says goodbye to Greeley Central

The senior banquet and commencement marked the end of public schooling for some 275 graduating seniors. The class of '74 marched through the gymnasium for the last time with tears, smiles, and mixed emotions. Goodbyes and hopes to all for the future brought a glorious end to 12 long, often fun, but sometimes tedious years.

A 20-7 loss to Poudre in the "conference championship" game left the Wildcats in third place in the final Northern League standings with a 5-2-1 record.

Statistically, the Wildcats had a most impressive year. Central outscored their opponents by a score of 269-110 and completed 83 of 150 passes with only five interceptions. The Cats also rushed over 1800 yards.

Coach Ron Roggy has been most instrumental in the turn around of Central's football fortunes the past three years. With his staff he has brought back a winning tradition for the Wildcats.

Five grididders earn conference honors

For their outstanding play this year, Eric Carlson, Bob Green, Jeff Meyers, 'EJ' Nusbaum, and Mark Roggy were named to the all-Northern Conference Team. In addition to receiving conference honors, Green earned a berth on the All-State Team.

Named to the All-Conference defensive Unit were: Green in the tackle position, and Roggy as a defensive back. On the offensive team Carlson earned a spot as a running back, Meyers as a quarterback, and Nusbaum was named to the center position. Nusbaum was the only Wildcat junior to earn a spot on the select squad.

1. Mark Johnson catches a touchdown pass which gave the Cats six more points in the victory over Jefferson.
2. Mitch Roggy, Central's hard hitting sophomore, meets Jefferson's men head on for a sizable gain. Mitch gained over 100 yards for the Cats during the game.
3. Wildcats All-Conference player, Bob Green, hugs coach Jeff Vosler after scoring his first touchdown at the defensive tackle position.
4. Dalene Wiltfang and Nola Bruington watch the Wildcats in action. Dalene and Nola were two of the managers for the football team.

This season's team was made up of primarily sophomores and juniors, and only one senior, letterman Stacy Williams.

To determine conference standings this year, team totals from each 18 hole dual meet were added together. The low total from the season's play determined the conference champion.

Wildcat swimmers complete best season ever with 10-1 record

The 1974 edition of the Wildcat swimming team fought their way to their best season ever with a dual meet record of 10 wins and one loss.

In conference action, the Cats were undefeated in dual meets and were nosed out by Loveland for the league crown in the Conference Meet.

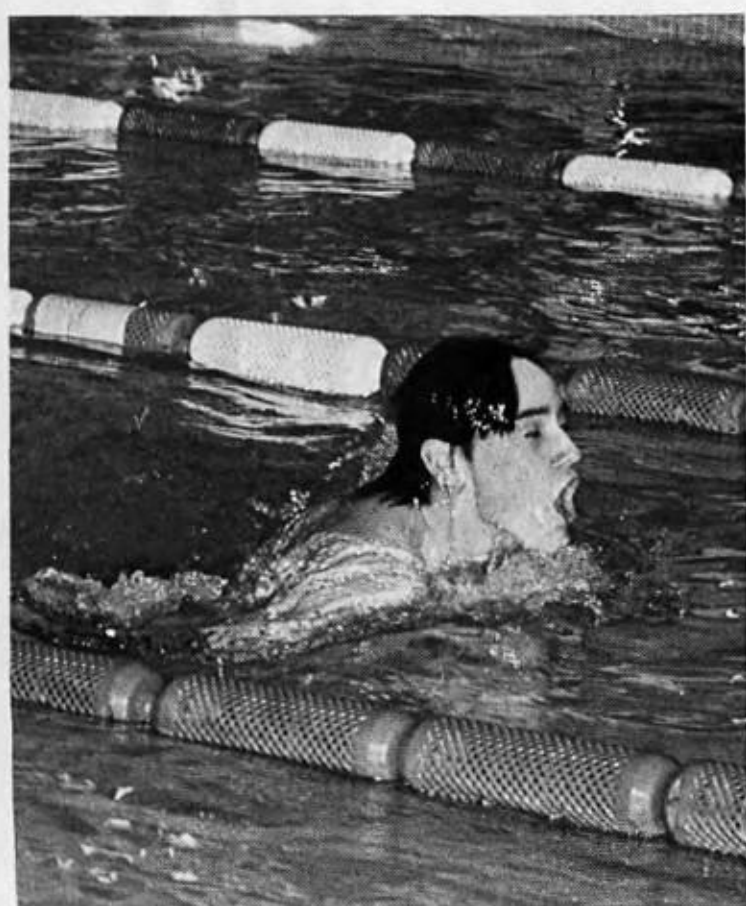

Five Cat swimmers qualified for the State Meet this year. They were: Mark Larson in the free style, Dan Rowe and Mark Lehrer in the backstroke, Dave McCarty in the butterfly, and the relay team of Larson, Lehrer, Rowe and Brent Hall.

Kittens finish season with .500 record

This year's Kitten basketball team ended the season with a 9 - 9 record. Two impressive wins over Denver East and Cheyenne Central got the season off to a great start.

Minor injuries hit the team and through the middle of the season, wins for the Kittens were quite elusive.

Late in the season, things went better for the JV squad and they finished on a win streak highlighted by the final win over the always strong Poudre team.

Three Wildcat wrestlers qualify for state tournament

With a season record of nine wins and five losses, and a conference record of four wins and four losses, the Wildcat wrestlers battled to a fifth place finish in the tough Northern Conference.

The fifth place league finish was indicative of the strength of the conference as seven conference wrestlers were in the finals of the state meet.

A .500 conference record came as a result of the 24-20 win over the always tough Sterling Tigers in the final match of the season.

With the momentum from the Sterling match, the Wildcats entered the district meet and placed five wrestlers in the championship round. Disaster struck the squad and only Marc Tidquist, Marty Weber and Tim Reed came through to win berths in the state matches.

Top left: Marty Weber quickly sticks his Fort Collins opponent and proves why he was the outstanding wrestler for the Cats this season.

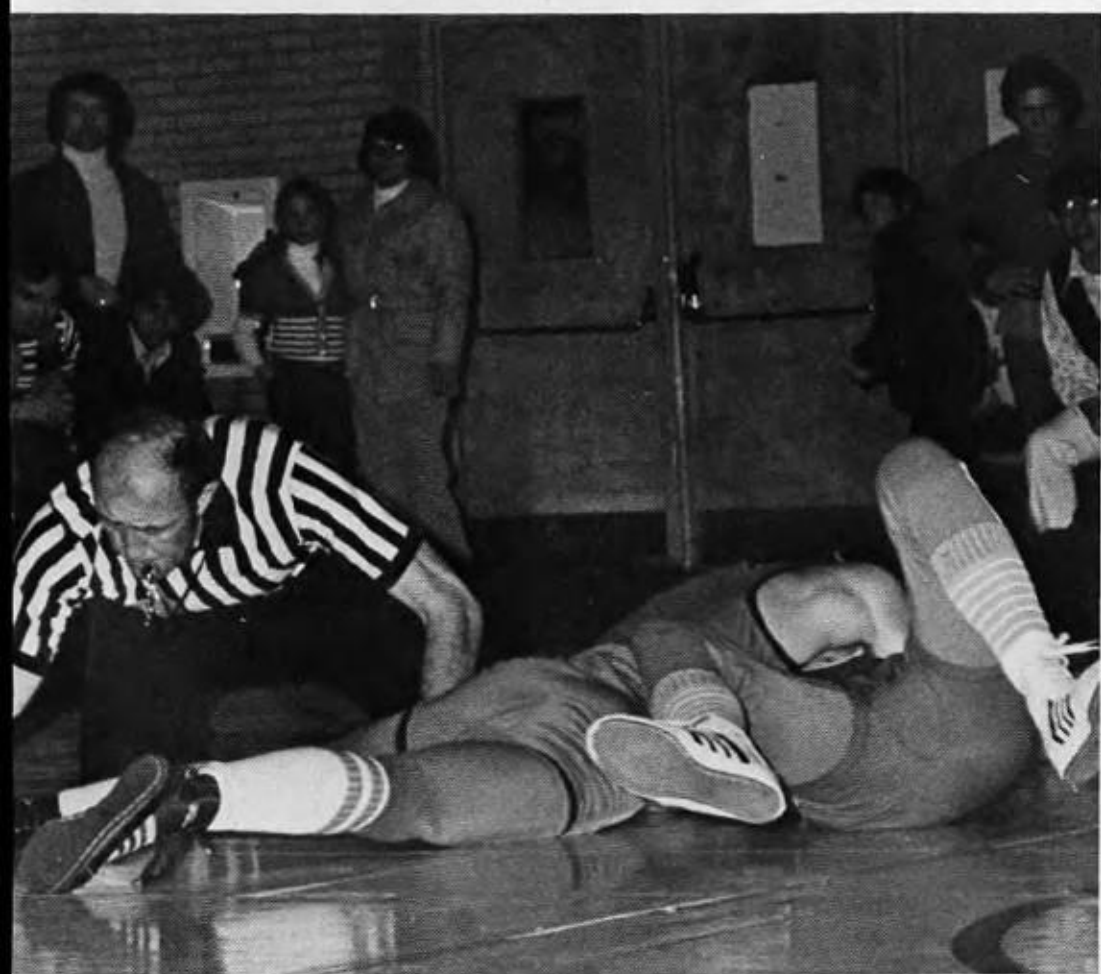

Top center: Wildcat Nyal Torrez picks up his man in preparation for a takedown. Torrez saw only limited action as a varsity wrestler this year and should have two great years of action remaining.

Top right: Central's Mike Greenfield moves his Poudre opponent into a pinning position. Greenfield was one of Central's leading wrestlers with a 14-8-1 record for the season.

Left center: Marc Tidquist tops his man to take another victory for the Wildcats. Tidquist was one of the top three wrestlers who went to State for the Cats this season.

After a rather shaky start, the Central varsity baseball team got on the winning trail to finish with a 9-9 record.

Bad weather forced postponement of most of the early season games, and most of the conference games were played the last two weeks of the season.

A double header with cross-town rival West gave baseball fans a full afternoon. The Cats lost the first game 0-1 in 14 innings and the second 0-4.

When your reputation rides on every bite, make sure Monfort is riding shotgun.

With Monfort beef, you can count on the consistent tenderness and flavor that bring customers back.

Monfort feeds its steers (600,000 yearly) on a scientifically planned hot cornflakes diet, geared to produce high yield...and low cooking loss.

You'll save more than your reputation. Monfort's fine boxed beef comes "direct-from-the-factory-to-you" through Monfort-owned distribution centers (with proper aging and care prior to delivery).

You'll want to try our fine boxed lamb products, too. If there's anything more we can do for you, just tell us!
